

No more heating costs!

(Zero heating costs home in Ludwigshafen, Germany)

Product:
Neopor®

Application:
Energy modernization

A seventies home that covers its own heating costs? LUWOGÉ converted an inhabited old building in the Pflingstweide district of Ludwigshafen into a zero heating costs home in a construction time of only six months.

In view of rising energy prices, a zero heating costs home may be the best kind of investment. LUWOGÉ has developed a concept that reduces energy consumption to a technical and economic optimum by means of energy modernization measures. The remaining energy is obtained from regenerative energy sources. The saved energy costs are used for refinancing. That means the running costs no longer include any heating or hot water costs.
